

Stitch Men's Volleyball to Host Recruitment Day

Nationally-ranked Wolves Volleyball invites prospective Student-Athletes to campus.

Interested in playing collegiate men's volleyball? On Saturday, March 7, Cardinal Stritch University men's volleyball head coach Eric Poppelman will be hosting Wolves Men's Volleyball Recruitment Day.

The day will be jam-packed with information for prospective men's volleyball student-athletes. Some of the things that will be featured on the day will be a campus tour, meeting with Admissions counselors, breakfast with the coach and players, and a question and answer session with coach Poppelman.

After the morning's activities conclude, all attendees are encouraged to come to the Allen-Bradley Gymnasium where the No. 3-ranked Wolves will play host to a three-team round robin matchup that includes Stritch, Lindenwood University, and Sienna Heights.

The day's matches will begin with Stritch taking on Lindenwood at 11 a.m.

For a complete timeline on the day's events, please see below. To register, please email Coach Poppelman at espoppelman@stitch.edu.
